

Residents hold first protest against proposed dump

A group of about 200 people gathered in front of the proposed site of a new landfill in the town of North York, Ontario, on Monday to protest against the plan. The protesters, who included local residents and environmentalists, held signs and sang songs. They were joined by a group of about 50 people from the town of North York, Ontario, who were also protesting against the plan. The protesters were met by a group of about 100 people from the town of North York, Ontario, who were also protesting against the plan. The protesters were met by a group of about 100 people from the town of North York, Ontario, who were also protesting against the plan.

Protesters block the entrance of the proposed dump site in North York, Ontario, on Monday. The protesters were met by a group of about 100 people from the town of North York, Ontario, who were also protesting against the plan.

Go solar
Make money
1 866 765 9151

SOLART
www.solart.com

Solar One has developed more than 100 residential and commercial solar systems across Ontario as part of the Ontario Solar Energy Program.