

Submitted photo

South Nation Conservation continues this fall with a project to restore water quality and wildlife habitat-regenerating wild rice fields to portions of its 4,000-square-kilometre watershed. South Nation Conservation staff member Naomi Langlois-Anderson is shown harvesting wild rice in late August on the South Nation River just upstream of Chrysler.